Fifty Years

Pentecostal Collegiate Institute
Saratoga Springs, New York (1900)

FIFTY years of progress—from a small Bible school to a fully accredited liberal arts college. There were changes, new buildings, new courses; there were ventures of faith; there were sacrifices made by men and women who were called of God, who had visions. There were days when the only means of keeping the school together was the broom factory—and faith.

of Progress

Throughout these fifty years there have gone from the school missionaries, ministers, physicians, educators, and nurses. Through them the influence of Eastern Nazarene College has been spread into every region of the earth.

E. N. C. has not stopped growing. It still has men and women of sacrifice; it still makes ventures of faith. New buildings are planned; enrollment is increased every year; new courses are added. E. N. C. marches onward!

Honoring...

"Son of sturdy Yankee forebears, born and reared in the soft green and rocky granite of the Vermont mountains, grounded in the simple virtues, captivated by the Holy Spirit, molded in and by a holiness college, dedicated to lay service to God and the Church, moving in ever widening circles as a teacher of clarity and insight, an administrator and educator with the power to command the loyalty of students and the respect of the educational and business world" — this is our First Crusader.

Since student days, he has crusaded with our growing college. He has shared her battles; he has shared her victories; he has dreamed of her future. E. N. C. is his past . . . E. N. C. is his present . . . E. N. C. is his future.

1. In New Eng-land stands a col-lege Near blue Quin-cy Bay,
2. Grace-ful branches lift-ed heavenward. Sun-crowned fore our view,
3. Clear her vis-on, high her pur-pose Lo, she stands ser-ene;
E. N. C. our Al-ma Ma-ter Glo-ri-ous for aye
Stand the elms up-on our cam-pus, Reach-ing to the blue,
And her faith is sure, un-daunt-ed, Eas-tern Naz-a-rene.
Laud her mer-its, Sing her prais-es, Let our song ring free.
Sha-dy walks be-neath the foli-age, Flow-ring beau-ty rare:
We will prove our strong de-vo-tion, Loy-al we will be;
Hail to thee, our Al-ma Ma-ter, Hail O. E. N. C.
Blessed by na-ture how we love thee, Al-ma Ma-ter Fair
True to God and Al-ma Ma-ter, True to E. N. C.

Fifty years ago . . . the dawn of a century, the birth of an institution. Today . . . the turn of that century, the onward march of that institution. Envisioned with the purpose, "In hoc signo vinces," Eastern Nazarene College stands to point us to "Via, Veritas, Vita."

Although the NAUTILUS is for everyone, it is especially for the senior. Hence, in its motto and in its colors, the NAUTILUS for nineteen hundred and fifty is closely linked with the Class of '50. Just as each senior with knightly characteristics takes up the banner "In hoc signo vinces," so each student in his preparation for knighthood may enter into the spirit of this same crusade.

Like the knights of the Twelfth Century, we have the same three ideals . . . devotion to our lady, glorification of self, warfare for the cause of right. We, too, make our vows to uphold these ideals.

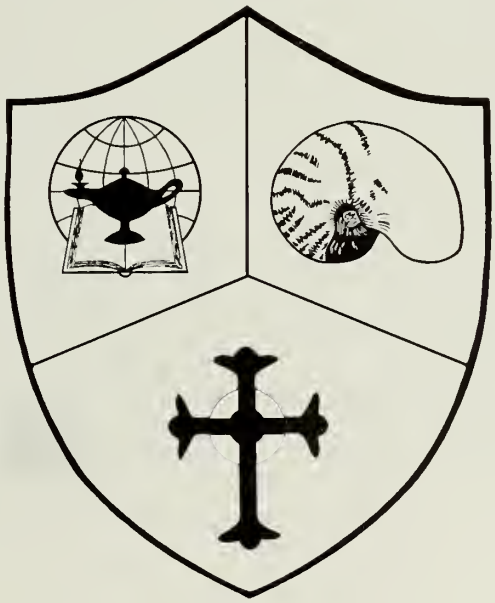
Our lady is the Lady of Education. Whether kings with sincere loyalty tending the aspirations of our lady, or enfants, pages, squires, and knights receiving her wisdom, we uphold her standards. In each training period our devotion to her has been on trial, and it has proved true.

w o r d

Tournament jousts of old glorified knightly skill; societies, clubs, social life, and sports at E. N. C. strengthen each student's "self." In mental and physical skills we strive for honor and glorification. Our purpose is preparation for service in the future.

Warfare, a chief pursuit among medieval knights, was constant and long, a continual readiness to overcome the enemy for the cause of right; to us comes the challenge to be ever alert, to go forward with undaunted stride, a challenge from the Church of the Nazarene to participate in the Mid-Century Crusade for Souls.

Today we stand upon the threshold of a turning century. Were we to look back, we would see hard-fought battles, but glorious victories, both as a church and as a college. As we look toward the future, we foresee further conflict, but stimulated by the triumphs of the past, we take courage. With our eyes on the Cross, we lift high our banner, "In hoc signo vinces."



"They are not kings who sit on thrones, but they who know how to govern."

Office of the President

May 8, 1950

Dear friend of E.N.C.,

The E.N.C. story is a thrilling epic of sacrifice and devotion, of vision and fulfillment. From our present vantage point, after fifty years of progress, we can see that the history of the past is replete with toil, and effort, and struggle. As we trace the development of the college from the earliest days as a small Bible school at the turn of the century, it is also evident that there have been periods of growth and accomplishment and times of glorious realization.

E.N.C. is a crusade, splendid in its conception, valient in its endeavor, and impressive in its achievement. Its victories have been won under the banner of the cross.

E.N.C. is also a spirit, infectious and impelling. It has flamed in the hearts of the consecrated men and women whose sturdy Christian character is reflected today in the ideals and standards of the college.

Nothing more meaningful can be said for E.N.C. than to declare that the spirit which has characterized the institution for half a century is still alive; and that the crusade which was begun so many years ago is still being carried on with increased vision and augmented forces.

The future presents an unparalleled challenge. We face it with firm confidence that God who has led so unerringly during the past fifty years will, in the days ahead, continue to lead on in victorious conquest.

Sincerely yours,

Edward S. Mann

MEETING twice annually to formulate plans for the progress of E.N.C., this group of consecrated men not only help to share administrative policies, but they also challenge and inspire the student body through their words of greeting and exhortation, both in the chapel service and in their contacts with students on the campus. To many these representatives bring greetings from parents and friends in churches throughout the zone; to all they bring encouragement and blessing through their lives of devotion to our Christ.

FACULTY

"THE PEOPLE are fashioned according to the example of their kings."

These are our leaders—the kingly men and women who guide us on our way to the Holy City.

Fifty years ago Pentecostal Collegiate Institute was started with a similar group of men and women. It was a small staff, but when the Institute moved to Wollaston and became Eastern Nazarene College, its faculty numbered seventeen. Of that number four have continued the crusade with E.N.C. in the face of dark and difficult days.

Now there are thirty-four men and women who make up E.N.C.'s faculty. But they are more than teachers; they are also spiritual counselors. Many students have found professors willing to talk over problems and to give counsel toward an establishing Christian experience. By their kingly example, the E.N.C. faculty inspire us to full devotion, to an honorable glorification of skills, and to a valiant spirit in crusading for the cause of Christ.

EDWARD S. PHILLIPS

A.B., Th.B.

Vice-President

"Ay, every inch a king!"

Big in stature, big in heart, our genial vice-president made himself known and loved at E.N.C. and made E.N.C. known and loved by the eastern educational zone. As manager of the college building fund, Mr. Phillips spent week-ends and summers in traveling from New Brunswick to Washington, D. C., representing the cause of his alma mater.

BERTHA MUNRO

A.M.

Dean of the College
Literature

"There's a woman like a dew-drop, she's so purer than the purest; And her noble heart's the noblest, yes, and her sure faith's the surest."

Executing the office of Dean of the College is but one of Dean Munro's duties.

In addition to her teaching schedule, the dean is ever ready to counsel and guide students scholastically and spiritually. Every Sunday morning Miss Munro imparts to her Sunday School Class her "truth for today." As teacher and guide she assists students in developing a sound philosophy of life.

JASPER ROSS NAYLOR

B.S., A.M.

Business Manager, Mathematics

"Yet he looks like a king; behold his eye, As bright as is the eagle's, lightened forth controlling majesty."

Supervising the inevitable repair jobs on campus . . . making financial arrangements with students who must work for expenses . . . explaining the intricacies of calculus in the classroom—these tasks and many others make Professor Naylor's days busy, but important ones. His ready wit, casual manner, and example of devotion to Christ are long to be remembered by all who know him.

MADELINE NEASE

A.B.

Registrar

"She was a queen of noble Nature's crowning, A smile of hers was like an act of grace."

Methodical and exact in everything she does, Mrs. Madeline Nease is always busy with an endless array of forms to be filled out and records to be kept. Yet she is ever ready to listen to a student's problem or victory, and to spend her every effort to be a blessing to all who come within her influence.

"Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth."

The diligent application to the task of preparing ourselves as evangelists, pastors, missionaries, and teachers was our aim this year.

By sincere devotion to Christ we endeavored to develop strong characters and holy lives, that our ministry may reflect the glory of Christ and the beauty of holiness whether our service be here or in foreign lands. The determination of each of us is "Where He leads me I will follow!"

SENIORS

FOR THE SENIORS, the year 1950 is symbolic of many things—the year of graduation, the turning of a century, a mid-century crusade in the Church of the Nazarene. In a real sense we are knights crusading toward a Holy City. Knights of the Cross, each of us has chosen as his Holy City a particular goal.

At E.N.C. we have put on our armor, the armor of a Christlike life. With the aid and example of the faculty, our kings, we have polished our armor; we have discovered and given expression to those traits of Christian character that will make us effective in our crusade.

The Holy City is still a vision of the future, but graduation brings us very near. Some of us saw the Holy City—our objective in life—before we came to E.N.C.; others have chosen it under the influence of our Alma Mater. Our years in college have been part of our route to that goal.

And so we take our knightly vows and leave E.N.C. In our hearts and in our minds will be our battle cry—"In Hoc Signo Vinces!"

Dear Family,

Ute 12:25, but just a few hours before turning out the light. Found the stationery in the suitcase I took on the senior trip. What memories it brings - food and fun the whole time. Graham doesn't come any more Monday Jane and I took a senior "jaw" and visited Bunker Hill, Old Ironsides and North Church. Then we stopped at Filene's basement, ate at the Ho-ha-hut, and attended the Boston Pops.

It seems impossible that exams are over and I'm so busy to history. How time flies! But I do feel C.W.C. has taught me as many lessons and has increased my faith three fold.

Looking forward to seeing you in June. Make hope that Faith can come too

Love,

Bill

FORMER enfants and pages, present squires, and future knights are we, the junior class of 1950. As squires we are striving to meet every requisite in discipline, self-control, outward and inward refinement—straining mind and muscle for the highest achievement scholastically, athletically, socially, and spiritually.

With true chivalrous character and motive we fulfilled our duties to the knights of 1950, welcoming them from the senior trip, entertaining them nobly at the Junior-Senior banquet as knights and ladies.

Not merely attendants of knights are we. With enfants, pages, and knights we too are soldiers of the Cross, banded in holy warfare, commended to our Lord and under His sovereign command. Regulated by His spirit we march forward, confident in the assurance of "Victory through Grace."

Dear Mom and Dad, Jan. 24, 1950

There's snow in New Hampshire - lucky seniors! They'd cancelled the trip but Sunday night they called and found there was snow. We don't know where they are But we've heard plans planned a "hang up" reception for them when they return te- night Mary Jo - the day is coming so fast! We girls finally threw our dresses, and now we're having trouble keeping them tied from the second floor down. We've also decided on the banquet hall, but there are plenty of things to do yet

There are busy but happy days I must close now - - there's lots to do before the seniors get back - plus a little studying

Love to all,
Grace

SOPHOMORES

LIKE THE PAGES of medieval times, we sophomores of 1950 have striven to be worthy of our Lord, that some day we may become true knights.

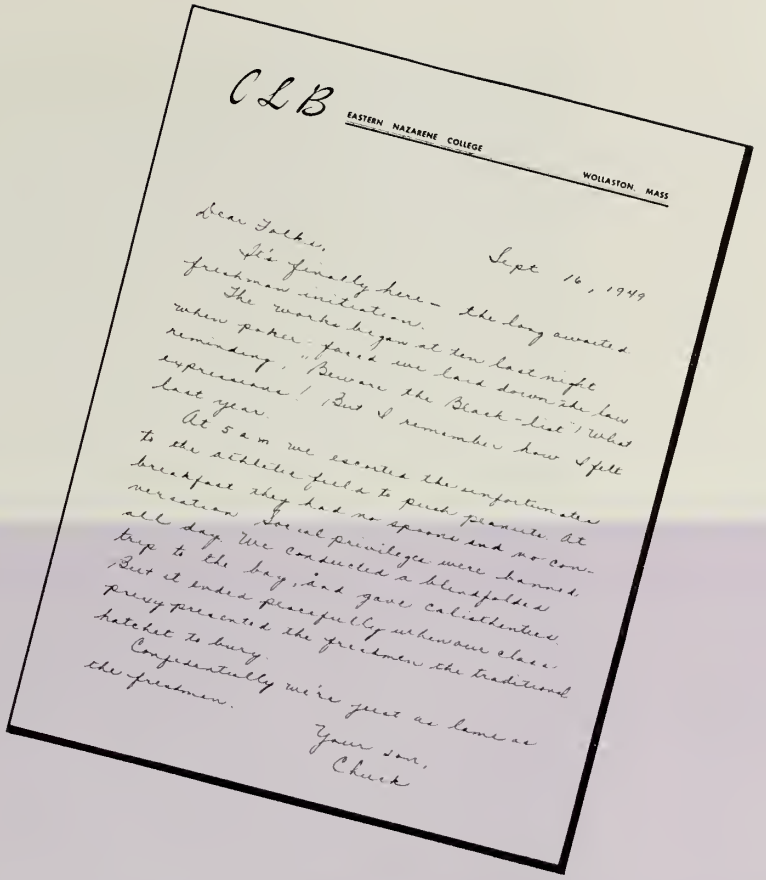
This year we were ever eager to aequire skill in scholastic pursuits.

But we, like pages of the eourt, found time for play. On Initiation Day we helped the enfants—the freshman class—to become adjusted. Not quoits, but football, tennis, and ping-pong we played and learned lessons of endurance and sportsmanship.

Not self-glory but the honor of God was the spirit of the sophomores who had charge of the young people's service one Sunday evening.

Our Monday after-dinner prayer meetings were characterized by Spirit-supervision, intense devotion, and excellent attendance.

Not fully prepared for mature service, we are yet engaged in training, confident that some day we shall be true knights of the Cross.



CLB

WOLLASTON, MASS

Dear Folks,

Sept 16, 1949

It's finally here — the long awaited freshman initiation.

The works began at ten last night when poker faced we laid down the law reminding "Beware the Black-list" What experience! But I remember how I felt last year.

At 5 a.m. we escorted the unfortunates to the athletic field to push peanuts. At breakfast they had no spoons and no conversation. Social privileges were banned all day. We conducted a blindfolded trip to the bay, and gave calisthenics. But it ended peacefully when our class presented the freshmen the traditional hatchet to bury.

Confidentially we're just as lame as the freshmen.

Yours sin,
Chuck

In Memoriam

OLIVE MARJORIE WHITE

"I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge shall give me at that day: and not to me only but unto all them also that love his appearing."

On June 1, 1949, Olive Marjorie White, our friend and classmate, finished her course and received from her Master the crown of righteousness. We shall always remember the quiet radiance of her testimony, the sparkle in her eye, the sincerity of her smile.

IN MEDIEVAL TIMES the first step toward knighthood was that of the enfant. Before he could qualify as a page in the lord's court, the young boy had to serve for a while as an enfant in the kitchen. There his tasks were menial, cleaning the spits and watching the fires.

We, the freshmen at E.N.C., were the enfants whose tasks were yet menial. Before we could achieve knighthood we had to undergo training, learn lessons of endurance, and pass tests.

However, even for us, the year was not all work. We had our hours of relaxation—in the Dugout, in the gym, on the athletic field, on our class outing. And in the Greenbook we had the first opportunity to express ourselves in a united effort.

For, although our position was the most lowly, we were devoted to our Lord and were striving to develop those physical and mental skills requisite to holy warfare.

Dear Mother and Daddy, Sept 9, 1949

I love what a week! I hope I won't be this busy all year. What a load of mail, so many tests, pictures, and instructions already. Surely this isn't to put it all to scare us at once — they'll just take per practice, we're grievous.

My room mate is from Nyack, and our room is on the fourth floor in the old part of Munro Hall.

Open house is next week. Would you make some sponge to pass out to our visitors? Joy's other high school classes visit! My own one, but if we could get our visitors pledge they'd forget how penny our rash looks.

Our spring convention starts Sunday night.

Write often.

Lovingly,
Dotty,

E. N. A. – lingering memories of days gone by—happy days, busy days, days rich with spiritual blessings. Happy days—our club nights, the Academy breakfast, fellowship with each other. Busy days—burning midnight oil before semester exams, putting finishing touches on that workbook or term paper, one last look at the book before a quiz. Spiritually rich days—Monday night prayer meetings full of inspiration and blessing, chapel, revival services—only a sample of our busy, happy life at E.N.A.

STUDENT

THIS YEAR the aim of the Student Council has been to demonstrate further that Christianity and democracy are workable and together constitute the best way of life.

A noteworthy addition of the year was the new two-room Student Council office, in which the group met to discuss problems, old and new.

President Thompson advocated a further extension of student government into campus affairs. The student organization was strengthened by a departmentalization of activities. Robert Ingland headed the religious life activities; Floyd John, the several organizations; William Wallace, the social life; and Marjorie Bradley, the department of student publicity. Considerable progress was also made in the establishment of a student broadcasting station on the campus.

The traditional fall, Christmas, and spring parties were capably directed by Vice-President Nelda Vidt, who introduced ingenious features into these festivities.

THE NAUTILUS is more than a publication. It is the voice of E. N. C., portraying moments of school life and making them live permanently in your memory. Those moments—chapel time, Friday night programs, a thrilling basketball game, Campus day, spring at E.N.C. We hope that in 1975, you, as E.N.C. alumni, will chuckle over the pages of the Nautilus, that you will smile as you remember "the time when . . ."

It was the assignment of the Nautilus staff to recapture those memories and to record them. The photographer, the feature editor, the sports writer—all helped in the effort to make permanent your impressions of this year. And then there was the very necessary work of the business manager and his aides. Letters were written, trips were made to Boston; a large map of Boston was used to tabulate day-by-day progress. It meant hours of work, staff meetings with weighty decisions, numerous telephone calls, and the burning of midnight oil; but we enjoyed our task.

To us this is more than just another publication—it is the Nautilus that represents the fiftieth milestone in the progress of Eastern Nazarene College.

To you we present your Nautilus for 1950 in the hope that now and in later years it will recall to you the memorable days of 1950 at E.N.C.

LAST MINUTE COPY . . . late hours Saturday night with the "dummy" . . . hurried trips to the printer's . . . headaches . . . and happiness when another issue of the Campus Camera was added to the growing file of Volume XX.

It is certain that the eager, vigilant staff, composed of College Newspaper Practice class members, could not have realized its desire for a top-ranking news publication without the aid of its teacher-adviser, Alice Spangenberg, who has nurtured the Camera through its growing pains to its present maturity.

The Camera attempted to keep faith with its sub-title—"The Student Voice of Eastern Nazarene College"—by the use of opinion polls, interviews, and features. If the publication speaks effectively for and to its readers, it has accomplished its purpose.

A member of the Associated Collegiate Press, the Camera strives to maintain a high journalistic rating, as well as a favorable acceptance by readers.

YOUTH! At the Delta Fountain of Fortune forty-six students sought their fortunes for a new year. Throughout the year the Deltas showed abundant spirit.

In football their motto was, "We're not rough and we're not tough, but are we determined!" In basketball their determination was a threat to the other three societies. After-dinner programs were characterized by musical humor; the spring boat trip was a venture for Delta youth.

The society strove to maintain excellent standards, not only in scholarship and sports, in social and academic life, but also in spiritual quality. Their Friday night prayer meetings will be among the refreshing memories from the Delta fountain.

DELTA

WKAPPA went on the air officially on Rush Day, broadcasting from a blue-and-white radio station and televising the social, recreational, spiritual and educational activities of Kappa Society members.

"Musical Profiles" with semi-classical renditions; "World Roundup" with its up-to-the-minute campus news; and on the lighter side the unique male quartet, the commercials, and "Jr. Van Dort Faces Life"; the patriotic appeal of "Against the Storm," and the spiritual emphasis of "The Light of the World"—all this was included in "Around the Dial," our society program.

The tone of our Friday night prayer meetings has been encouraging and inspiring as a volume of praise has arisen from consecrated hearts.

Co-operation, loyalty, and talent were the special features of the Kappas this year; friendliness and enthusiasm, our advertisers.

HEAD—lead—red and black—fifty-one sharpened Sigmas! Rush Day augmented the spearhead of our activity to one hundred and twenty-seven loyals.

Piercing God-ward, our souls were fed with heavenly manna as we instituted the Friday evening Sigma prayer meetings.

Fellowship, fun, and freedom were the essence of our society breakfast and outings. Personal interviews to discover latent talents and abilities of our loyals aided in achievement of success in our programs.

We inaugurated intra-society athletics, finding activity for all Sigmas in tournaments of ping-pong, badminton, tennis, quoits, chess, and checkers. Not by power, nor by might, but by spirited unity have the "dark-horse" SIGMAS caused continuous upsettings in inter-society athletics.

SIGMA

WITH THE CRY "Stop the Zetas!" ringing in its ears, the Zeta Society rose to defend its status as the "champion society."

Rush Day saw sixty-one newcomers climb the Zeta mountain to be "On Top with the Zetas," putting the society in the lead in enlisting new recruits.

New talent was emphasized in the musical program "A Day in Thy Courts," in which Vice-President Becky Skidmore directed the depiction from the opening chords of "Morning" to the last strains of "Still, Still With Thee."

The Green and Gold Sportsmen excelled again as the boys took their third consecutive football title and were strong in their third basketball bid. The girls also showed aggressive skill in their volleyball and basketball encounters.

In its after-dinner prayer meetings the society has maintained a high spiritual level, in keeping with its motto, "Excelsior — ever upward."

KNIGHTS OF OLD usually glorified themselves on the field of battle or in tournaments. But the enfants, pages, squires, and knights of Eastern Nazarene College also take an interest in the glorification of intellectual pursuits. In the departmental clubs E.N.C.-ers have an opportunity to promote scholastic ideals and to develop such special interests as literature, languages, philosophy, teaching, and biology.

Three Tuesday evenings in each semester, groups of students made their way to their respective meeting places in the Administration Building, Canterbury Hall, and the homes of various professors. The several Christmas parties have become almost traditional; this year the December meetings highlighted the club year. In addition, there were trips to the Blue Hills for nature lovers, a visit to the state mental institution at Danvers for psychology enthusiasts, plans for an exhibition to illustrate the manufacture of chemical products for future chemists and medical doctors, and an informative discussion of contemporary music for modern Bachs and Handels, as well as many other interesting activities. Much attention centered around the five Spanish-speaking members of Las Estrellas.

Praise is due the faculty advisers, as well as the club officers, who helped to make each club a success this year.

SENIOR RECITALISTS

AMONG this year's recitalists the Fine Arts department presented Bonnie Douglas. Her organ recital, assisted by strings, is well remembered; for who could forget Mozart's Sonata No. 10 or Bach's Chorale prelude.

Tristram and Isolde, classified among the immortal lovers, were brought to life with Marion Kish's interpretation of the Arthurian legend.

Clifford Keys' voice recital was varied in its appeal to his many listeners. There were selections from the Creation; a light classical; and the old favorite, "Thru the Years."

"The Two Little Black Boys", a tragic story of Negro twins who were taught to be "self sufficient in their twoness", was interpreted by Wilda Huber.

And of course we can't forget Charles Bruce and his "Muster at Hullaran and Bethesda"—a satirical report of an ex-G. I. on his pre-war employer.

WHO'S WHO

Six seniors from the class of 1950 were this year honored by election to membership in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. They were selected by a joint student-faculty committee on the basis of character, scholastic achievement, leadership, contributions to college life, and ability to succeed.

This organization recognizes outstanding students from approximately six hundred colleges. The directory in which is printed a brief biography of students chosen serves as an index and guide for use by personnel managers. Those chosen wear a Who's Who key, symbolizing a versatile college career.

JOUSTING? NOT EXACTLY. But just as exciting as a thirteenth century tournament were the football, basketball, volley ball, and softball games at E.N.C. this year. And just as medieval knights displayed physical prowess in the tournaments, so we E. N. C.-ers had an opportunity for glorification of our skills, on the gridiron or at a ping-pong table.

In the final game of the football season the Zetas defeated the Sigmas, to emerge champions for the third consecutive year. The Sigma defeat moved them into a second-place tie with the Kappas. Meanwhile, the Sigma girls stole by the Deltas to capture the volley ball crown, as the Zeta and Kappa girls were less successful.

Remember the basketball games this year? The Deltas, the success story of the basketball season, rallied to provide exciting competition for the Sigmas and Kappas and even toppled the Zetas in one memorable game. However, the Zetas took an early lead, for the Kappas and Sigmas lacked the necessary scoring punch.

The girls' basketball games on Thursday night were also highly competitive. The Sigmas held the edge most of the time, although the Deltas and Zetas kept the Sigma Sallies on their toes.

A highlight of the sports year was the E. N.C. "all stars"—Gordon College game, which E. N. C. lost 60-56. The Gordon girls defeated the E. N. C. girls' "all stars", 33-18.

For individual competitors there were tournaments in tennis, ping-pong, and badminton. Softball was the main attraction on May afternoons when spring fever was rampant.

Dear Friends:

This year, 1950, is a most significant one in the life of the people called Nazarenes, of Eastern Nazarene College as a Christian educational institution, and of the Wollaston Church of the Nazarene.

As a denomination of New Testament Christians, the Church of the Nazarene is engaged in a Mid-Century Crusade for Souls; a crusade designed to carry forward the banner of Christ's Kingdom and to accelerate the tempo of our own efforts at soul-winning. We are completely in accord with this movement.

The College this year completes its first half-century of existence. From its beginning it has stood for the Wesleyan doctrine and experience of Christian Perfection; and never in the past has its concern for this truth been more earnest than now.

For the past thirty years the Wollaston Church of the Nazarene has been ministering to faculty, student body, and townspeople alike, but never with a church home of its own. However, 1950 is an epochal year because of the fact that a church building more than adequate for our present needs is nearing completion and will soon be dedicated. As a local community of Christians we have every reason to face the future with courage and faith. We pledge to all those whom we serve the best ministry we are able to render.

In the bonds of Christian love,

J. Glenn Gould

Pastor

THE CHRISTIAN WAY OF LIFE is a warfare. We enlist for training at E.N.C. and are taught to be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might. We strive to put on the whole armor that we may be able to stand in all pursuits of life. Our weapons are not carnal, but mighty through God.

Training is realized through various organized units. Armor adjusting is an advantage offered by the Evangelistic Association, for knights of the Cross have opportunity to learn while laboring in missions and churches. Qualification for membership—our willingness to serve. Through the Ministerial Association veteran ministers offer words of wisdom to those of us who will fill the ranks. Missionary societies help us keep the vision and bear up warriors on foreign fields.

In the fall and spring we enlist for an all-out spiritual offensive, a time of casting off the works of darkness and putting on the armor of light. Chapel speakers boost morale and keep ideals before us. Strength comes to hearts as we are reminded that all things are ours if we are Christ's. Nor are we without a song. Choirs give expression to singing hearts in selections from The Messiah at Christmas. College quartets gather needed finances from patriots at home.

This is our objective—to be able to say that we have fought a good fight. Our great Commander has never lost a battle. Thence our cry—Onward, Christian Soldiers!

CHURCH PROGRESS

AT LAST, a home for the Wollaston Church of the Nazarene. For many years its members, trustees, and pastors have dreamed of a church building, have developed the building fund. This year we have seen the dream come true. The first unit of the building, a basement church, was completed this spring.

But this is just the beginning. The architect's drawing is not yet realized. We shall not be satisfied until the beautiful church occupies the corner of our campus, until its steeple towers above the elm trees.

. . . from the ends of the earth.

Onward Christian

PHOTOGRAPHER . . .

The responsibility associated with such a title is no small task.

A College Annual without photographs would indeed be dull.

Therefore, we have tried to fulfill our photographic assignment with the careful attention necessary to assure you a pleasant and lasting memory of your days at E.N.C.

ESPECIALLY FOR YOU . . .

- The making of College Annuals takes far longer than you think.
- The co-ordination of photography, art work, engraving, printing and binding was entrusted to our skilled craftsmen who have been making college annuals for nearly a quarter of a century.
- Together with the staff who have served you so well, we too share in the satisfaction of completing this book . . .

Especially for YOU

The Nautilus for 1950

The Annual of
Eastern Nazarene College
Wollaston Park
Quincy 70, Massachusetts

R. WESLEY BLACHLY, JR., Editor

HADLEY E. SMITH, Business Manager

May 9, 1950

Dear Friends of the Nautilus:

"Support your Nautilus for 1950 by being on time for your pictures," "Support your Nautilus for 1950 by handing in suggestions." These and many others were suggestions made by the staff with the one idea of making the publication of this annual the very best.

It is quite evident that these suggestions were heard, for from every channel through which this book progressed, there was wholehearted cooperation. We are indeed grateful to each one for this.

A gentleman with an understanding of the problems of yearbook production, Paul K. Blanchard has constantly shown a personal interest and by his superior skill has directed this year's Nautilus to completion.

Lending support to the Nautilus seemed to be a specialty with "Charlie" Iannello of Harvard Studio. Not only did he maintain an even-tempered pleasantness, but he was on hand to accommodate in any way possible at a moment's notice.

Although we are not personally acquainted with them, we realize that this production would not have been complete without the successful work of the Roberts Engraving Company, and Myron Stephens of Burlen Robert and Son.

In addition to these, our thanks go to our advisers. Mrs. Rothwell, ever ready to correct copy and give constructive criticism, has helped us attain our literary standard. The financial guidance from Prof. Naylor has kept our business department stable.

The support given to your Nautilus for 1950 has come from a spirited staff of writers, lay-out workers, proof-readers, and typists; a photographer and dark room technician were also eager assistants.

To these and the dozens more who were just willing to help in any way, we feel most grateful and wish to express our genuine thanks for the particular part each played in making this publication what we feel is the very best we could produce.

Nautilusly yours,

R. Wesley Blachly, Jr.

Dear Donna,
You are a sweet christian friend very dear to me
I've enjoyed working with you this year. May God's blessings be yours.
Jennie

Dear Folks,
My first year at E.N.C. has been made easier, more fun by "the Banners". Thanks so much for everything.
